McGovern's Candidacy Is So Labeled By Hat-
ton Followers At Madison.

HINT AT DEAL WITH STEPHENSON

Friends Of District Attorney, However, Discredit These Insinuations—Claim That, At Heart,
La Follette Is For Him.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., Aug. 6.—The visit of District Attorney McGovern to Milwaukee, candidate for the nomination for United States senator, to Madison this week, proved uneventful and failed to evoke even a slight ripple of enthusiasm. The candidate was met by a number of political friends at his hotel, but a meeting at which he was scheduled to make a speech was declared off on account of the extremely hot weather. After McGovern left Madison, friends of W. J. Hatton declared that the candidacy of McGovern was an attempt on the part of Senator Stephenson to break up the La Follette following between Hatton and McGovern. In other words they attempted to label the McGovern candidacy as a sideshow of the Stephenson circus.

In support of this declaration they pointed to the fact that notwithstanding the fact that McGovern is a poor man, he is now apparently well supplied with money; that McGovern's law partner, Theodore Kronschnigg, is the president of the Milwaukee Free Press, owned by Stephenson and engaged in a desperate effort to do his bidding and bring about his nomination.

Another thing mentioned in this connection is the fact that McGovern is in some way able to keep Senator La Follette from openly declaring for Hatton, and this is said to be because La Follette encouraged McGovern speech was declared off on account of the extremely hot weather. After McGovern left Madison, friends of W. J. Hatton declared that the candidacy of McGovern was an attempt on the part of Senator Stephenson to break up the La Follette following between Hatton and McGovern. In other words they attempted to label the McGovern candidacy as a sideshow of the Stephenson circus.

The senatorial campaign is in the wind up this month and ought to be much better just now, but it is unquestionably true that the fight is not around nearly as much excitement among the rank and file of the voters as was expected.

COMMERCIAL TRAVELERS DECLARE WAR ON TIPPING

National Association In Session At Milwaukee, Will Fight The Custom.

[MILWAUKEE WILL BE HEARD.]
Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 6.—The waiter, the porter and his bellboy with the itching palm must go. The tipping custom must be abolished. This is the edict of the traveling men of the country assembled in Milwaukee today to complete the organization of the National Travelers' association. The proposed organization is to serve as a clearing-house for all complaints from commercial travelers. The tipping evil heads the list of grievances and is to be given first attention. When that problem has been solved the association will work to secure decent towels, six-foot sheets, adequate linen and other things which the "drummers" believe themselves entitled to but which they do not always receive at the hands of the hotel proprietors.

The present meeting will be in session during the remainder of this week. Before it adjourns it is expected that the national organization will be given a good start and within a few months it is hoped to have a membership of not less than 50,000. The association will take in members of both of the national organizations of traveling men now existing.

The association will aim to bring about the desired reforms through the medium of the law. Committees will be appointed to go before the legislatures of the different states to bring measures to do away with the tipping system and discrimination in hotel rates against the traveling salesmen.

CONGRESS OF HISTORICAL SCIENCE OPENS AT BERLIN

Ambassador Hill Tells Why What Ought To Be, As Well As What Is, Must Be Dealt With By Historian.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Berlin, Aug. 6.—Dr. David Jayne Hill, United States ambassador to Germany, today laid the distinction of delivering the opening address before the International Congress of Historical Science which opened here today. The theme was "The Ethical Function of the Historian" and in his scholarly treatment of the subject he dealt with such questions as the purpose of historical science, the nature of historic truth, and the relation of history to other sciences.

Two Aspects of Reality
Starting out with the postulate of modern science that there exists in the universe a fixed amount of energy, never increased or diminished, and that all phenomena are manifestations of this primordial energy, the speaker reminded his hearers that there are two distinct aspects of reality which have to be treated in entirely different ways. Some phenomena appear in an order of co-existence in space, others in an order of succession in time and it is with these transformations that history has to deal. But there is another aspect of phenomena not less important for history than transformation in time. Resemblances and differences of phenomena are both qualitative and quantitative. It is with the latter that history is chiefly concerned; for, while the quantity of co-existent energy always remains the same, the qualitative differences appear to be ever increasing in variety and complexity in the order of succession.

Where Mathematics Falls
In measuring and comparing phenomena there are two different methods of procedure which correspond to the difference of quantity and quality. In the case of quantity, whether of a number of units or of magnitudes, the instrument of comparison is mathematics. Given a numerical or geometrical standard, all quantities of the same kind or related to the same standard can be mathematically compared. But as we rise in the scale of qualitative development from the chemical compound to the plant, from the plant to the animal, and from the animal governed by instinct to man governed by reason, we find mathematics less and less sufficient as an organ of investigation. While in the realm of color, temperature and other secondary physical properties quantity may furnish a key to the explanation of quality, we find ourselves at last in a sphere of being where quality is the matter of supreme interest, and where the mathematical method ceases to apply.

The social life of man, the progress of civilization, the formation and development of political institutions, the rise and fall of empires, the relations between independent states—all these transformations belong to the sphere of qualitative change, defy mathematical calculation, and demand a new instrument of comparison and comprehension. It is precisely this new and higher sphere of human activity which is by common consent, par excellence the field of history.

Some of What Ought to Be Having demonstrated in the course of an exhaustive analysis that history's place in the hierarchy of knowledge is that of an ethical rather than a mathematical science, he proceeded to show that the whole substance of history is of an ethical nature, it being the work of the historian to trace the upward or downward curve of man's development as displayed in the various forms of human conduct, such as art, industry, thought, literature, and politics, and if possible, bring to light the forces and conditions that have produced it. The necessity of this ethical function on the part of the historian grows directly out of the nature of the historic process. Although the life of mankind in its totality may be, and in some sense is, dependent upon the natural energies that underlie human existence, there is in every individual a sense of relation to the past and to the future; that is, a historic consciousness; that distinguishes man from his fellow creatures of the organic world. And this historic consciousness not only includes a certain sense of indebtedness for the labor and solicitude of the past, but there is, perhaps, no human individual, certainly no typical individual, who does not feel that the forces acting in and through him, ought to be accomplished. And this sense of what ought to be, as distinguished from what is, whether heeded or neglected in practice, is universally recognized as furnishing a standard for the judgment of conduct, as good or bad, useful or useless, wise or unwise, noble or ignoble.

Human Nature Constant Factor
The one constant factor in the historic process is human nature, which is sometimes governed by reason, but generally moved by impulse. The business of the historian, therefore, is not to make history seem reasonable foreign to the nature; is not to deal with uniformities and universal formulas, but with the variations of human endeavors. For history is the record of man's efforts to solve the problems with which his nature and his environment confront him. It is good for mankind to realize that, although living in a universe governed by law, as a result of its freedom it has sometimes gone wrong; and that, without a loyal adherence to great principles, it may go wrong again. The best antidote to this eventuality is a true science of the past.

THINK COL. VILAS WILL NOT RECOVER

Physicians Believe Permanent Blood Clot Has Formed on the Brain.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., Aug. 6.—Colonel William F. Vilas, former United States senator and twice a member of the cabinet of President Cleveland, is believed to be approaching his death. Since he was stricken on July 20 with cerebral hemorrhage and paralysis, there has been little change in his condition. What change has taken place has been for the better, in that he is now partially conscious at times, and is able to take some nourishment, but the improvement has been so slight that it is believed that the extravasation of blood upon the brain has become a permanent clot and that he will never again regain full consciousness or recover the use of his right side. Even the symptoms of returning consciousness have not been satisfactory and entirely hopeful, for they have been manifestations of irritation and increased nervousness. The long strain is telling upon the patient's nerves and it is feared that his great store of vitality will not hold out much longer. Colonel Vilas' brother, Dr. Charles H. Vilas of New York, is in constant attendance, having left the house only twice since he reached Madison.

DETAILS OF THE AIRSHIP WRECK

Scenes at Melodramatic Ending of Count Zepplin's Endurance Flight Described.

Echordingen, Aug. 5.—The melodramatic ending of Count Zepplin's long awaited endurance flight in his monster dirigible balloon has blasted the ambitions of the inventor. The count, almost heart-broken and unable longer to endure the sight of his shattered craft, has left by train for Friedrichshafen.

One Motor Works Badly.
The airship had left Nackonheim, the scene of its first mishap, and overnight had visited Mayence and begun the homeward journey when misfortune overtook it. Soon after its departure it was found that the front motor was working badly owing to the fusing of metal in the groove in which the piston rod ran.

Over Echordingen, Count Zepplin decided to land. Although this was the first time that such a maneuver had been attempted with a rigid balloon, the landing was effected easily and smoothly only one of the steel wire stays being broken. The engineers immediately set about making repairs to the balloon, which rode at anchor in the center of a large force of military which had been called out to keep the crowds away.

Destroyed by a Storm.
At 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon a wind suddenly sprang up and some of the weather-wise bystanders called the attention of the officers to the fact that a storm was brewing and advised them to secure the balloon. Their warnings were unheeded. The balloon swayed to and fro, sometimes rising a few feet from the ground. At 2:58 o'clock a formidable gust of wind struck the airship broadside. At first the craft heeled over and then her bows rose in the air, carrying with them a number of soldiers holding the ropes. After pausing a moment at a height of 50 feet, the airship came crashing to the ground. With a thunderous report the forward motor exploded. From the bows of the balloon shot forth a livid flame, while from the rear escaped thick clouds of black smoke which caused the entire structure to disappear from the view of the thousands of spectators.

When the air cleared the balloon was seen lying in an open field on a high plateau with only the ragged, tangled strips of the aluminum envelope still remaining. The metal stays and bands and portions of the motors were strewn about in places like old iron, and blackened with smoke and scorched.

Officers rushed forward and found that several soldiers had been hurt. The four engineers who were on the forward platform of the airship had escaped death, but were suffering from injuries.

Government Pays Him.
Berlin, Aug. 6.—The ministers of all the federal states have telegraphed condolences to Count Zepplin on the loss of his airship, expressing the hope that the disaster will only spur him to further efforts toward the attainment of his ambition.

Dr. von Nothmann-Hollweg, imperial secretary of state for the interior, after a consultation with his colleagues, has decided to forward to Count Zepplin $125,000, the proposed estimate in the imperial budget for aeronautic experiments.

FORMER BANDIT CHIEF SLAIN.

W. F. Downing Killed in His Saloon by an Arizona Ranger.

Douglas, Ariz., Aug. 6.—William F. Downing, a member of the old Silliman-Alford band of cut-throats who ten years ago operated in southern Arizona, was killed Wednesday in his saloon at Wilcox, by Arizona Ranger William Speed. Speed sought to serve Downing with a warrant when the latter, it is said, displayed a gun, whereupon Speed fired.
While not present, Downing is said to have been an instigator of the robbery of the Southern Pacific station at Cochiz, about ten years ago, by the Silliman-Alford band. For this he was sentenced to ten years' imprisonment, and after serving seven years he was released.

going and to give employment.

"This is not the moral course, and may perhaps be called against economic principles, but as in the matter of raising railroad freight, we have been brought into our present condition by operations against all rules of business procedure, and we must get out of the dilemma by heroic methods.

"The very intention of business men

to save the country from the danger of a Bryan victory, through stimulated activity, even without profit, the ordinary incentive for aggressive operations, will in itself bring about a condition of prosperity.

"The wheels are buried in the mud, and only by Samsonian effort can they

be released and pushed out of disastrous impasse; but once the push becomes effective, they will go rolling on over the smooth road of prosperity, and the object will have been attained. Contributions of money then will be in plenty for the republican campaign, from individuals and from corporations too, and no

modesty or hesitation need be shown about the amount. The larger, the better, because the cause is the well-

fare and benefit of the whole American people, no matter how misguided a portion of them may be as to the facts.

"These misguided ones will be saved

in spite of themselves. From one point of view it will be a life and death struggle for the corporations,

and death to the corporations means good-bye to American prosperity for many, many years. And it will not be a perfunctory death of organization, and the mere mechanical part of these great institutions whose prosperity has made the prosperity of all

America, not a mere crumpling and destruction of paper certificates.

"There are many million stockholders in the reputable railroad and industrial companies represented on the

New York Stock Exchange. A majority in number of these are people who have made and saved, by toll of hand and brain, money enough to buy and put aside the shares of these companies.

"The fight will be against the life

blood of corporations, and the attempt more bitter than ever to array class against class. For proof of this, hear the rolling of departing thunder as displayed on the return from Denver.

The Evening Sun in describing a conference among a train load of returning delegates, throws this ray of light

on sentiment expressed:

"A state senator from Illinois was the oldest member of the impromptu traveling conference, and he spoke as one having authority, and some of his remarks are quoted here:

"Boys," he said, "we witnessed lots of enthusiasm at Denver and heard a lot of noise, but we must not fool ourselves with the idea that noise is going to win this election. I am a thorough Bryan man, stumped for him in all his campaigns, but to win this year we will have to make the fight of our lives. There is but one way to win, and Bryan is going to make his campaign along that line. That way is to unite and array every wage-earner and farmer against all forms of wealth, especially corporate wealth.

"We must fight and denounce the corporations all along the line."

"It remains to be seen whether the farmer, who belongs to one of the richest classes in this country, will allow himself to be fooled into killing off his best customers by helping to destroy the great business structures."

This from the Financial Reporter in a clear analysis of the political situation. Manufacturers and businessmen are inclined to put the best foot forward for the moral effect, because the fact is generally conceded, on the part of people who think that the election of Bryan would mean widespread disaster.

SENATOR ALLISON

With the death of Senator Allison

of Iowa the United States loses a some would-be Caesars are going to be established by their nearest and dearest friends.

So there is to be a good fight on for Lt. Governor after all. At the last minute up pops some outside candidiate to wave the flag of battle in what was otherwise a peaceful camp.

Forty Years Ago

Janeville Daily Gazette, August 6, first congregation in that room consisted of seven persons, three of whom were children. During the same year the foundation of the old church was laid but so rapid was the growth of the society that it was necessary to remodel the structure which was done. This building was sold in 1865 as it had become too small and the Hyatt House Hall was fitted up and called the Tabernacle. In 1866 the foundation of the new church was laid. Since that time the work has been prosecuted with vigor and it is thought that the main auditorium will be ready for occupancy by the 25th.

New York, Aug. 6.—The Herald's Washington dispatch states that it is ascertained that instructions of Rev. Dr. Johnson were not particularly strong regarding the Alabama claims and that he was merely directed to pursue the same course as his predecessor on that question, but was more fully instructed regarding the American doctrine of expatriation. It is believed that the President and Secretary Seward authorized him to negotiate a treaty as to the rights of naturalized citizens, similar to that lately agreed upon between the United States and Prussia.

The New Baptist Church—Few religious societies in any town of this size have ever exhibited a stronger or healthier growth than has the Baptist society of this city. The precise date of the organization we are unable to give but it was some time about 1847. It was effected by a Mr. Hackett who was sent out by the Baptist Home Mission Society. About the first of June, 1850 the society commenced worship in the old cabinet shop which stood on the lot now occupied by Dr. Trent's residence. The

SAYS JOHNSON WILL AID BRYAN

F. B. LYNCH PROMISES SUPPORT OF MINNESOTA GOVERNOR.

IS CALLER AT FAIRVIEW

Democratic Candidate Agrees to Speak at State Fair in St. Paul
—Hitchcock and Cortelyou Confer.

Fairview, Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 4.—Of more than usual significance was the visit to Fairview Wednesday of Frank B. Lynch of St. Paul, Democratic national committee man from Minnesota and manager of the Gov. Johnson campaign for the presidential nomination at the Denver convention. He arrived about noon in company with H. B. Nelson of Minneapolis, president of the State Fair association.

Mr. Lynch's presence at Fairview was at the special request of Mr. Bryan. He lost no time in conveying to the Democratic nominee Gov. Johnson's assurance of loyal support of the Democratic ticket and intention to take the stump in Mr. Bryan's behalf. "There is no animosity toward Bryan in Minnesota," said Mr. Lynch. "While I do not promise that the Democrats will carry Minnesota this year, I think they have a very good chance."

Invites Bryan to St. Paul.
The business which brought Mr. Nelson to Fairview was to invite Mr. Bryan to attend the state fair in St. Paul and deliver an address. The invitation was accepted, the date being fixed at August 31, but with the understanding that there should be no charge for admission to the grounds on that day.

It was announced that the St. Paul speech would be the only one that Mr. Bryan will make in Minnesota during the campaign. The subject to be discussed will probably be the tariff.

Hitchcock and Cortelyou Confer.
New York, Aug. 6.—An important conference between Chairman Hitchcock of the Republican national committee, and George B. Cortelyou, secretary of the treasury, who managed the Republican campaign four years ago, was held late Wednesday at the Manhattan hotel. Besides talking with Mr. Hitchcock about the political situation generally throughout the country, Secretary Cortelyou is thought to have taken up the governorship question in New York state.

Charles P. Taft of Cincinnati, brother of the Republican nominee, was one of the first callers at headquarters Wednesday. He had a long talk with the chairman and then met the local newspaper men. He was greatly amused at their pointed questions concerning the cost of running a campaign, but would not tell how much it was costing him. He parried the questions good naturedly and with great success. He expressed the opinion that Ohio was safely Republican.

Hawaiian Rifleman Coming.
Honolulu, Aug. 4.—The crack rifle team of the National Guard of Hawaii sailed Wednesday on the steamer Alameda to participate in the national rifle competition to be held by teams from the regular army and the National Guard at Camp Perry, O.

Italians in Fatal Fight.
Rockford, Ill., Aug. 4.—In a fight at an Italian boarding house, Labelle Salvatore was killed, Teotro Toffolo was mortally wounded and Tony Costorjohne was seriously injured.

Translator of Balzac Is Dead.
Newport, R. I., Aug. 6.—Miss Katherine Prescott Wormeley, famous as the translator of the work of Balzac, died at her summer home in Jackson, N. H., aged 78 years.

GREAT STRIKE IS BEGUN IN CANADA

CANADIAN PACIFIC MECHANICS
DROP THEIR TOOLS.

TWELVE THOUSAND QUIT

Every Shop on Great System Is Silent
—Company Says It Stands by Arbitration Board's Award.

Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 6.—Trade unionism in Canada has given defiance to the Canadian Pacific railway. Without any untoward incident or ostentatious show, the mechanics and kindred workmen quit work Wednesday, and all shops, big and little, on this great system are idle.

It is estimated that 12,000 men went out, the largest number being 2,200 in Montreal and 1,500 here. Two thousand men left work between Fort William and Vancouver, all at the dictation of the executive. Even old workmen in line for pensions went home and it seems to be the most complete tie-up in the history of railway shops in Canada. All the workmen employed around the train sheds at the depots went out and conductors and engineers caused some delay to the service by insisting on trains being properly made up before they would take them out.

Stop at Whistle's Blast.
Every wheel in the shops stopped and every fire died out when the whistle blew several short blasts, caretakers and shop foremen alone being left to put the places in shape for the period of idleness bound to follow. In the afternoon the men gathered at their halls to appoint committees to carry on the strike.

It was a determined crowd which was present here. A few younger men tried to force an appearance of joviality, but the majority looked as if they fully realized the gravity of the step taken. It was decided not to appoint pickets at present. It is known, however, that the company has several hundred old country mechanics in "gold storage" who will be brought to the scene of action at once.

Two Thousand Out at Montreal.
Montreal, Que., Aug. 6.—Returns received by union leaders here Wednesday night show that the strike order promulgated from this city by Bell Hardy, chairman of the Federation of Mechanics of the Canadian Pacific railway, was obeyed by the employees in the mechanical department of the railway in every shop from St. John, N. B., to Vancouver, B. C.

It is estimated here that about 8,000 men are out, though this estimate is below that made at western points. The Montreal shops alone account for over 2,000 idle men.

The officials of the Canadian Pacific railway refused to make any statement beyond the declaration that they would stand by the award of the board of arbitration and conciliation appointed under the Lemieux law to consider the matters in dispute between the company and their mechanics. There is but slight probability of government intervention.

Not Guilty of Accepting Bribe.
Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 6.—John McGreger was declared not guilty Wednesday night by the jury which had heard the case in which he was charged with accepting a bribe of $1,000 in a boiler plant deal with the Atlas Engine works. He is a member of the board of commissioners of Madison county.

Hot Wave in the East Broken.
New York, Aug. 6.—Severe electrical storms late Wednesday accompanied by heavy rain and in some instances by damaging showers of hail, broke the heat wave that has been afflicting New York state and the New England states.

Curtain of Wins Corks.
One of the most fashionable clubs in Berlin has in its supper room a curtain made of champagne corks. Four thousand corks with their silver or gilt covering have been threaded on thin rods decorated with colored ribbons and embellished with small copper balls. It gives a very decorative effect at a distance and has the appearance of a Japanese panel. Each cork is from a bottle of champagne coating about a sovereign, so that the curtain represents an expenditure of something like £4,000.

HER OPPORTUNITY.
[Sings]—Don't Dorothy lucky? Just as she had decided to throw Jack over her back she got the engagement himself.
Charles—Well?
Dorothy—Well, now she is going to use him for bread of promises.
